Tamara is a teacher, sociologist, hitch-hiker, volunteer, adventurer, tourist, coordinator, raver and a big supporter of the Red Star football club. She can be neurotic sometimes, but is always ready to learn and work hard. She is currently working as a teacher in Kosta Trifković Primary School and is also a co-author of one KA1 and one KA2 project. She strongly believes that variety is a spice of life and that tolerance is a hidden secret of one's personal freedom. Throughout this and the next school year, together with her colleague, Dragana Beniće, she will be coordinating a Strategic partnership for innovations called Living Books in Schools. What gives her great joy is the fact that the Volunteer Club of Kosta Trifković Primary School will be brought to life once again and that its members will participate in student mobility in Romania and Poland.
